Teleflex Completes Sale of Precision-Machined Components Business to GKN plc

July 2, 2007

LIMERICK, Pa.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--July 2, 2007--Teleflex Incorporated (NYSE:TFX) has announced the completion of the sale of its Teleflex Aerospace Manufacturing Group (TAMG), a precision-machined components business that was part of its Aerospace Segment, to GKN plc, a leading global supplier of technology-based, highly-engineered products. The agreement to sell this business was previously announced on April 4, 2007.

GKN Aerospace is a leader in the design and manufacture of composite and complex metal aircraft structures and specialty products for commercial and military aviation markets. It is a global independent first tier supplier to aircraft and aero engine manufacturers. GKN Aerospace has over 6000 employees and 21 centers in Europe and North America.

About Teleflex Incorporated

Teleflex is a diversified company with 2006 annual revenues of more than $2.5 billion. The company designs, manufactures and distributes quality engineered products and services for the commercial, medical, and aerospace markets worldwide. Teleflex employs more than 19,000 people worldwide who focus on providing innovative solutions for customers. Additional information about Teleflex can be obtained from the company's website at www.teleflex.com.

Caution concerning forward-looking statements:

Statements in this press release, other than historical information, are considered forward-looking statements under the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements are subject to various risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those contemplated in these forward-looking statements. These factors are discussed in Teleflex's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

CONTACT: Teleflex Incorporated
Julie McDowell
Vice President
Corporate Communications
610-948-2836

SOURCE: Teleflex Incorporated