Diebold Nixdorf Names Mozelle Jackson as Vice President, Global Finance

November 12, 2018

NORTH CANTON, Ohio – Diebold Nixdorf (NYSE: DBD), a world leader in driving connected commerce, today announced that Mozelle Jackson has joined the company as vice president, Global Finance. Jackson is responsible for Diebold Nixdorf's financial planning and analysis in support of the company's global operations and corporate functions. She reports to Jeffrey Rutherford, Diebold Nixdorf's interim chief financial officer.

Jackson has held various leadership roles throughout her 30-year career. She most recently served as executive vice president, chief financial and administrative officer for Cavaliers Holdings, LLC, which includes the Cleveland Cavaliers, Cleveland Monsters, Canton Charge, Cleveland Gladiators and Quicken Loans Arena. At Cavaliers Holdings, she oversaw accounting and finance, facility operations, booking, legal, human resources, sourcing and the process improvement teams. Prior to this role, Jackson held several leadership positions in both financial and operating capacities, including chief financial officer of the private-equity backed Elyria Foundry Holdings, regional chief financial officer of Fifth Third Bank, and executive-in-residence for JumpStart Inc. She began her career at Arthur Andersen LLP. Jackson is also an active director on several non-profit boards in the greater Cleveland community.

"Mozelle's extensive financial management background and leadership experience makes her a valuable asset to our team as we execute our DN Now plan to drive increased customer focus and improved efficiency in our global operations," said Rutherford.

Jackson is based at Diebold Nixdorf's global headquarters. She received a bachelor's degree in Accountancy from Cleveland State University and is a certified public accountant through the State of Ohio. She resides in Solon, Ohio, with her husband and two children.
