Cantilan Bank Deploys First DN Series™ In The Philippines

December 15, 2020

The self-service solution provides the latest technology to support the bank's modernization and financial inclusion strategy

MANILA, Philippines and NORTH CANTON, Ohio – Diebold Nixdorf announced today that Cantilan Bank, Inc., one of the leading rural banks in the Philippines, has installed its DN Series™ ATMs at strategic locations across the bank's self-service network.

DN Series, a holistic, digitally connected line of self-service banking solutions, will help drive the bank's modernization and financial literacy program for consumers while delivering the most integrated functionality in the industry's smallest, most secure footprint.

Lt. Gen. William K. Hotchkiss, III (Ret.), Chairman at Cantilan Bank, said: "Deploying new technologies like DN Series supports our mission to develop financial literacy in many of the rural communities that we serve. We are proud to be the first bank in the Philippines to install this self-service solution and provide our customers with access to more financial services."

Consumer expectations and business needs are changing faster than ever before. DN Series allows financial institutions to easily accommodate these needs through its scalable design, consistent software and common components. In addition, layered security features protect against traditional and emerging physical, data and cyber threats.

Jaivinder Singh Gill, vice president banking Eurasia APAC, at Diebold Nixdorf said: "The DN Series is a combination of leading-edge hardware, software and services that helps customers like Cantilan Bank achieve their digital transformation strategy, grow their self-service footprint and support financial inclusion. We recognize the importance for all people to have access to comprehensive financial transactions and are proud to support Cantilan Bank in this endeavor."

Cantilan Bank completed deployment of the DN Series in October.
