

Teleflex Provides 2010 Business and Financial Outlook

January 11, 2010

LIMERICK, Pa., Jan 11, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Teleflex Incorporated (NYSE: TFX) will provide a preliminary financial performance outlook for 2010 and discuss its business plans and strategic initiatives in a conference call with investors today.

The company's financial estimates for 2010 include total revenues in excess of $1.92 billion and diluted earnings per share from continuing operations excluding special items in the range of $4.10 to $4.25, or growth between 14% to 18% as compared to 2009. Cash flow from continuing operations is expected to be in the range of $275 to $280 million, or growth between 20% to 27% as compared to 2009.

Restructuring and other special charges related to the Arrow integration program are anticipated to be $0.05 per diluted share for the year.

"During 2010 we expect to achieve consolidated core revenue growth of between 2% to 3%, led by Medical segment core revenue growth of between 3% to 4%," said Jeffrey P. Black, chairman and chief executive officer. "In addition, we expect to continue to expand our Medical operating margins, and anticipate they will approach 22% for the year."

Black continued, "We also expect the cost reduction initiatives implemented in 2009 to drive margin expansion in both our Aerospace and Commercial segments. These operating margins, combined with our continued focus on reducing working capital, are expected to deliver another year of strong cash flow."

Teleflex plans to report fourth quarter and year end 2009 financial results and to webcast a conference call with investors before the market opens on February 24, 2010. Further information will be available prior to the call.

As previously announced, Teleflex will hold a conference call today at 9:00 a.m. (EST). The conference call will be available live and archived on the company's website at www.teleflex.com.
