PURPOSE

Integrity, professionalism and respect are the cornerstone of our business. In all that we do, Compass and its subsidiaries (the “Company”) support and uphold these values and principles. The success of our business depends on each of us understanding and demonstrating our commitment to these values and principles. Each of us has a responsibility to act with integrity, professionalism, and respect — when working with each other, and in how we do business at Compass.

This Code of Ethics (the “Code”) is intended to serve as a guide to help us answer potential legal and ethical questions that may arise. However, no policy can address or anticipate every situation we might face. If you have a question about any course of conduct, you should consult your direct manager, P&C or a member of our Legal Department before proceeding.

OUR CULTURAL VALUES

At the Company, we focus on investing in and protecting our culture. It differentiates us from other companies and is one of the most important contributors to our success. We are all responsible for maintaining the Company’s culture and values as we grow. By conducting ourselves with integrity and dignity, we preserve, protect and enhance our culture and reputation.

PERSONS COVERED BY THE CODE

This Code applies to our employees, officers and members of our Board of Directors (“Board”). Agents, other independent contractors, and vendors are expected to comply with the Vendor Code of Ethics.

MAKING THE RIGHT DECISION

In evaluating your conduct, it is helpful to ask the following questions:

PURPOSE

- Why am I doing this?
- Is it legal?
- Even if it is legal, is it the right thing to do?

PROCESS

- Did I follow the right steps?
- Did I consult the right experts or stakeholders?

PERCEPTION

- How would this look to our customers, regulators, employees or the media?
- How would this look in three or four years in the future?

If you are ever in an uncomfortable situation or have any doubt about whether a situation is consistent with our ethical standards or complies with the law, please seek help from your direct manager, P&C or the Company's Legal Department. If you would like to remain anonymous, you can report the matter or seek help anonymously via the Company's hotline. For information about the hotline, please refer to the section called "Reporting Concerns," below.

HONEST AND ETHICAL CONDUCT

The Company expects each of us to strive for excellence and work with integrity in all that we do. It is unacceptable to cut ethical or legal corners for any reason. In this section, we will discuss some situations that we may face.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

We must all act in the best interests of the Company, and avoid any conflicts of interest. Generally, conflicts of interest are situations that divide your loyalty between the Company, on the one hand, and your own personal interests, on the other. Conflicts of interest can be actual or potential areas for concern. They can also be perceived, meaning, there is an appearance of a conflict even if one doesn't actually exist. When we refer to conflicts in the Code, we are contemplating all of these scenarios.

Determining whether a conflict of interest exists is not always easy to do. Before engaging in any activity, transaction or relationship that might give rise to a conflict of interest, you must first notify and seek written approval from your direct manager, P&C and the Company's Legal Counsel. If you are a Board member, you must first notify and seek written approval from the Chair of the Audit Committee of the Board ("Audit Committee").

In the following sections, we provide examples of situations that could present a conflict of interest.

HONEST AND ETHICAL CONDUCT

CONTINUED...

OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT OR CONSULTING

You may not engage in any outside employment or consulting that would interfere with your job performance or responsibilities. In addition, if a close family member or significant other is working or consulting for a competitor, that could be a potential conflict.

PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

Hiring or supervising a family member or others with whom you have a close, personal relationship may be a conflict. Moreover, being in a personal relationship (e.g., dating, living together, etc.) with another employee, applicant or contractor can create a conflict of interest if that relationship might affect your judgment, or appear to impact your judgment. For additional information on this topic, please refer to our Conflicts of Interest policy in our Employee Handbook.

BUSINESS WITH RELATED PARTIES

You should avoid awarding Company business to, or doing business with, a relative or significant other, individually or through a company they may be associated with. To prevent a conflict of interest, employees directing business to or from the Company to a related party should first discuss the situation with their manager and remove themselves from the decision-making process.

Even if a related-party transaction appears to be in the Company's best interests, you must first fully disclose the transaction to the Company's Legal Counsel, and receive approval from our Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, before engaging in that transaction.

HONEST AND ETHICAL CONDUCT

CONTINUED...

OUTSIDE ADVISORY OR BOARD SERVICE

Serving on advisory boards or boards of directors, or being appointed to industry groups, may present actual or potential conflicts. Officers and employees who wish to serve on an advisory board or board of directors must seek approval from their direct manager, P&C, and the Company's Legal Counsel. Members of the Board of Compass, Inc. must follow the process set out in our Corporate Governance Guidelines.

INVESTMENTS AND BUSINESS INTERESTS

If you, a relative, or a member of your household are considering investing in one of our suppliers, vendors, business partners or competitors, take great care to ensure that the investment does not compromise your obligations as our employee.

Things to consider in determining whether there is a real or seeming conflict:

- The size and nature of your investment,
- Your ability to influence the Company's decision,
- Your access to our confidential information, and
- The nature of the relationship between us and the other company.

CORPORATE OPPORTUNITIES

You may not take advantage of any opportunities discovered through your job with the Company for personal gain, or for the personal gain of a close friend, relative or significant other. These opportunities include, among others, the Company's sales and other business development opportunities, inventing products or services and writing books.

HONEST AND ETHICAL CONDUCT

CONTINUED...

MEALS, GIFTS, AND ENTERTAINMENT

Building strong relationships and socializing with customers, vendors, business partners and suppliers is an integral part of establishing important business relationships. However, good judgment should be exercised in providing business meals and entertainment or inexpensive gifts, so that all such conduct is consistent with customary and prudent business practices.

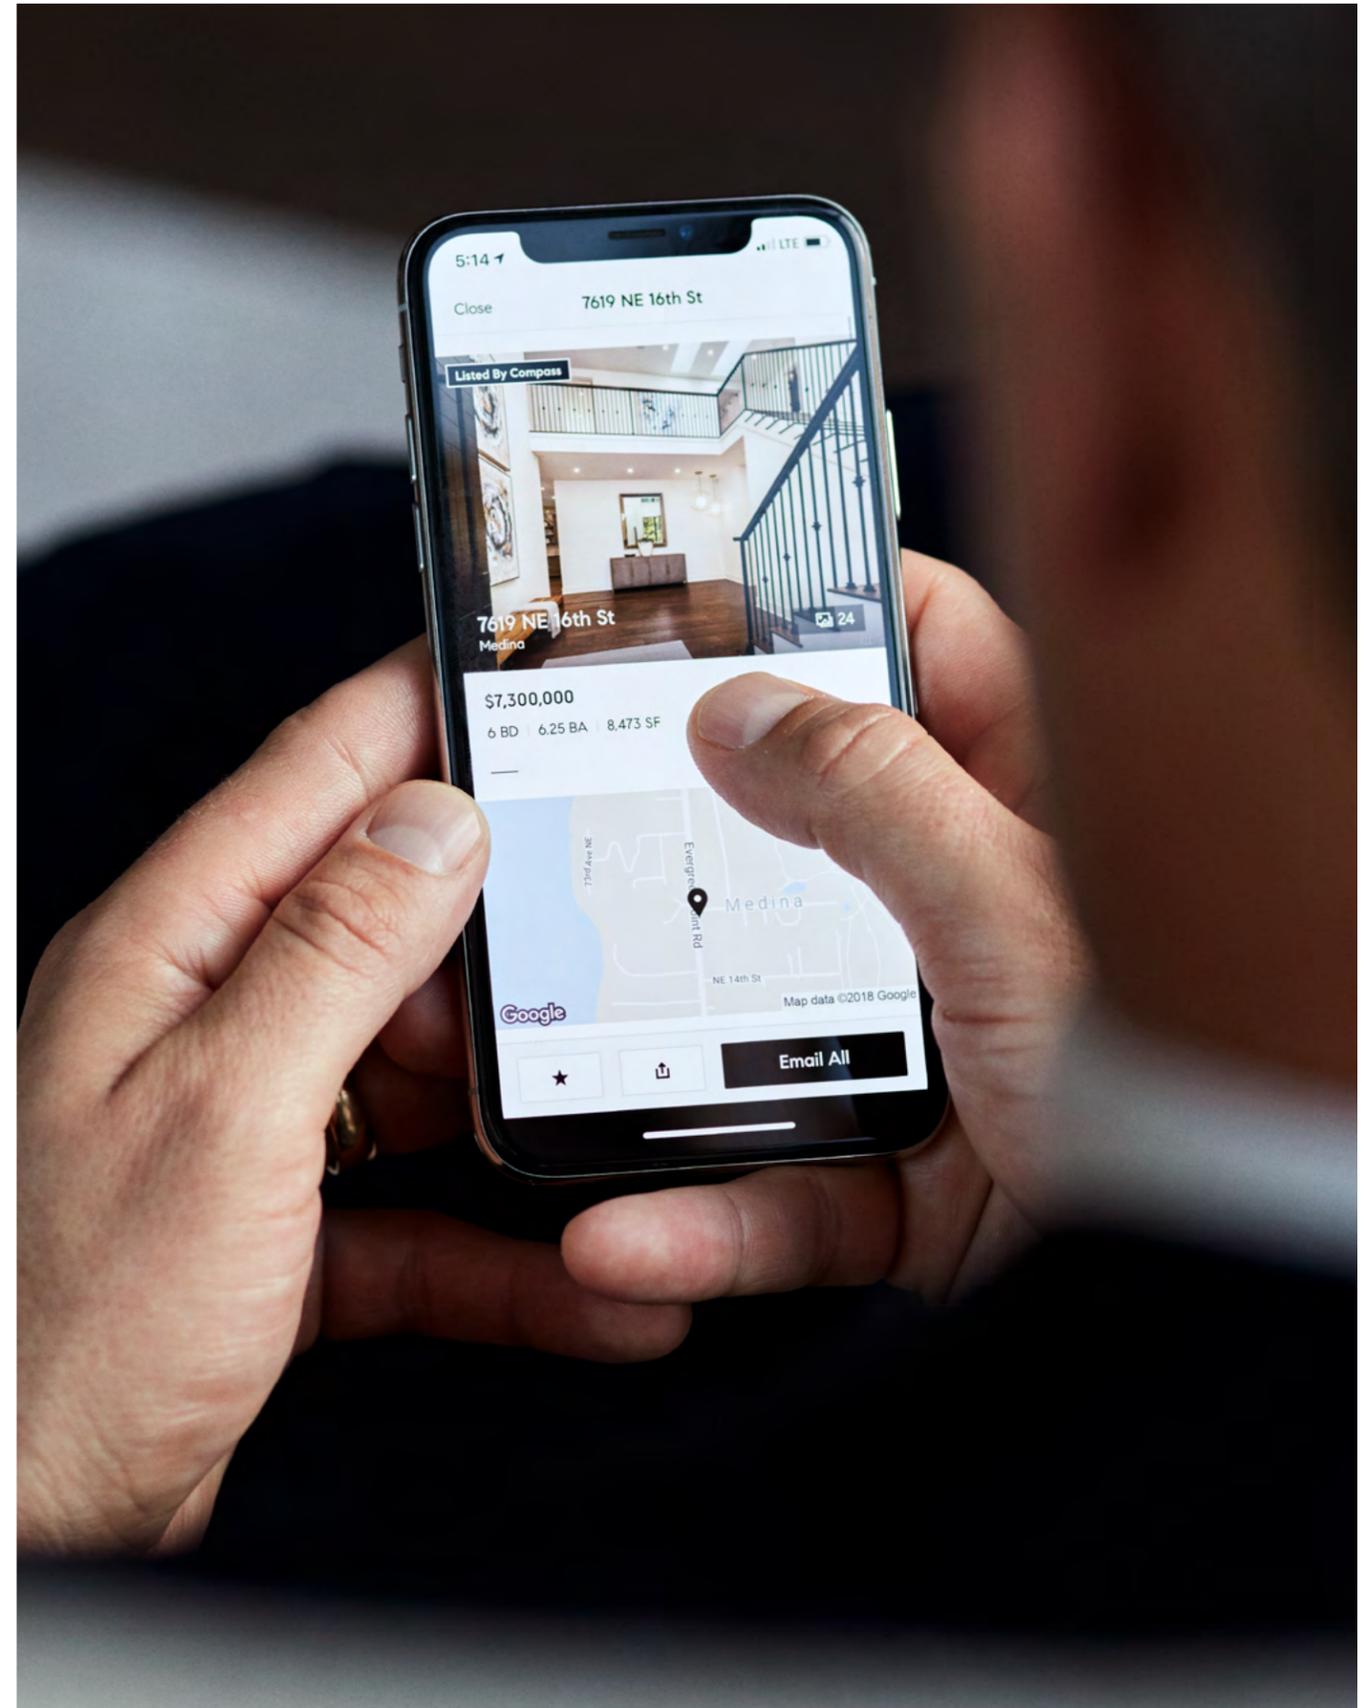

You should never give meals, gifts or entertainment unless they are reasonable, customary, and for an appropriate business purpose. You may never use personal funds or resources to do something that cannot be done with Company resources.

You should also avoid any actions that create a perception that the Company sought or received favorable treatment from other entities or people in exchange for business courtesies such as gifts, gratuities, meals, refreshments, entertainment or other benefits. For additional information, please refer to our Travel and Entertainment Expense Reimbursement Policy.

Likewise, you should not solicit or request any gift. Gifts may be accepted if unsolicited, are of nominal value, and will not influence your judgment. If you have questions about whether to accept a gift, discuss it with your direct manager, P&C and Legal.

LOANS

Under SEC rules, we are not allowed to provide loans (or guarantee loans) to our executive officers and directors or their family members. The Compensation Committee of the Board must approve any Company loan to any other employee, independent contractor or vendor.

COMPLYING WITH THE LAW

We are subject to numerous federal, state, local and international laws, rules and regulations. Employees, officers and directors must respect and comply with all laws, rules and regulations, as well as Company policies and guidelines. Areas of particular legal compliance are discussed in greater detail below.

INSIDER TRADING

We believe firmly in transparency and trust across the organization, and as such you may find yourself in possession of inside information about Compass or our customers, partners or other third parties. "Inside information" is any nonpublic information, positive or negative. It is equally important that we treat this information with the same care that we treat our own. For guidance about this, please see the section on Confidentiality, below.

The bottom line is that we never buy or sell securities based on inside information, nor do we tip off others to do so. It doesn't matter how we learned the information — using nonpublic information to trade securities is never acceptable. Doing so violates the law and the trust we have built with our fellow employees, our customers, partners, investors, and others.

Some employees may be subject to periods when they may not trade the Company's stock (i.e., "blackout periods"), because they are in possession of non-public financial information about the company towards the end of a quarter or year, or because they have other material nonpublic information about the Company. Employees that are subject to trading restrictions will be apprised in advance. Employees who are subject to trading restrictions are expected to refrain from trading Company stock while the restrictions are in place.

COMPLYING WITH THE LAW

CONTINUED...

For more information about this subject, please refer to our Insider Trading Policy.

NO BRIBERY OR CORRUPTION

All forms of bribery and corruption are prohibited. We will not tolerate bribery or corruption in any form or for any purpose. There is no potential benefit that can justify damaging our integrity and reputation or the trust others place in us.

Without limiting the above, all persons subject to this Code must also comply with all laws that prohibit bribery and corruption, such as the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA). Many of these laws are very broad and apply to both government and private or commercial bribery and corruption.

You are responsible for ensuring that you understand the applicable laws and our Anti-Corruption Policy.

If you have a question regarding any payment — whether a gift, entertainment or other expense — may violate our anti-corruption policy, please consult with the Company's Legal Counsel before you incur or authorize the payment.

MONEY-LAUNDERING AND THIRD-PARTY PAYMENTS

We are committed to complying fully with all applicable anti money-laundering and antiterrorism laws throughout the world. Money laundering occurs when individuals or organizations attempt to conceal illicit funds or make such funds look legitimate. If you are requesting payments to vendors or potential vendors, or are monitoring payments we receive, you must flag suspicious activity. The following examples may be indications of potential money laundering:

CONTINUED...

MONEY-LAUNDERING AND THIRD-PARTY PAYMENTS (CONTINUED)

- Attempts to make unusual, large cash payments,
- Payments by or to someone who is not a party to the relevant contract,
- Requests to pay more than provided for in the contract,
- Payments made in currencies other than those specified in the contract, and
- Payments from an unusual, non-business account.

For more information about this area, please refer to the Company's Anti-Money Laundering Policy and Procedures Manual, or contact a member of the Legal Department.

UNLAWFULLY OBTAINING BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE

Gathering information about our competitors, often called competitive intelligence, is a legitimate business practice. It helps us stay competitive. However, we must always obtain business intelligence appropriately from legitimate sources. You must not steal competitive intelligence, or obtain it from someone else who is not permitted to share it with you because of their confidentiality obligations. In addition, when gathering competitive intelligence, you should never try to misrepresent your identity or who you work for. These rules also apply to consultants, vendors and other business partners we retain, so we should not ask them to do the things that we ourselves may not do.

FAIR SALES AND MARKETING PRACTICES

We compete vigorously for business based on the merits of our offerings, products and services. We do not participate in any activities that unfairly harm competition. That is, we believe in competing fairly.

COMPLYING WITH THE LAW

We will accurately represent the Company and our offerings, products and services in our marketing, advertising and sales materials. We can promote our offerings, products and services and make accurate comparisons between us and our competitors. We should not make deliberately misleading statements, leave out important facts, or make false claims about our offerings, products and services, or our competitors' offerings, products and services.

Antitrust laws govern relationships between a company and its competitors. Collusion among competitors is illegal and the consequences of a violation are severe. We must never enter into an illegal or collusive agreement or understanding of any kind with competitors concerning commission splits, incentives, discounts or other terms or conditions of agreements with agents; profits, margins or costs; allocation of products, services, customers, markets or territories; or boycotts of customers or suppliers. In addition, we may not even discuss or exchange information with our competitors about these subjects that would be considered or perceived as collusion.

SELECTING SUPPLIERS

To achieve our mission, we need suppliers that are as committed as we are to building trust, that will do great work, and that will follow the law. We select the best suppliers for the job, by carefully considering their proven track record, reputation for integrity, and other merits — not based on favoritism. We work to eliminate child labor, human trafficking, and other labor abuses in our supply chain. You should confer with our Procurement Department for new supplier selection and onboarding. Procurement will coordinate with all the required stakeholders (e.g., Legal, Information Security, Accounting, etc.) to ensure compliance with Company procedures regarding third-party governance.

RESPECTING HUMAN RIGHTS

We are committed to respecting human rights to ensure that our business plays a positive role in the communities in which we operate. We do not permit any activities which violates human rights, including but not limited to the use of forced labor and human trafficking. We expect employees, partners, suppliers, customers, and governments to share this commitment.

FINANCIAL MATTERS AND BUSINESS PRACTICES

You are expected to act responsibly and exercise sound judgment with respect to our finances and financial reporting. Investors rely on accurate and complete financial and business information to understand the Company's performance and to make informed decisions. You may execute financial transactions only with authorization and in compliance with our policies. You also are expected to record and report all financial transactions and business information accurately and completely, to comply with our system of internal controls and to follow applicable laws, regulations and accounting practices.

CONTINUED...

We regularly file reports and other documents with regulatory authorities, including the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). In addition, we may make other public communications, such as press releases, from time to time. Depending upon your position with the Company, you may be called upon to provide information to help ensure that our public reports and communications are complete, fair, accurate, and understandable. Employees involved in preparing public reports and communications must use all reasonable efforts to comply with these principles and any applicable disclosure controls and procedures.

If you believe that any disclosure the Company has made is materially misleading or if you become aware of any material information that you believe should be disclosed to the public, it is your responsibility to report the matter to the Legal Department or through the compliance hotline.

In addition, if you believe that questionable accounting or auditing conduct or practices have occurred or are occurring, you should also report the matter to the Legal Department or compliance hotline.

SEC REPORTING AND FINANCIAL STATEMENT PREPARATION

Our periodic reports and other documents filed with the SEC, including all financial statements or other financial information, must comply with applicable federal securities laws and rules. If you contribute in any way to the preparation or verification of our financial statements and other financial information, you must ensure that our books, records and accounts are accurately and completely maintained.

CONTINUED...

You must also cooperate fully with our Finance Department, as well as our independent auditors and counsel. If you are involved in the preparation of our SEC reports or financial statements, you must:

- be familiar with and comply with our disclosure controls and procedures and our internal controls over financial reporting, and
- take all necessary steps to ensure that all filings with the SEC and all other public communications about our financial and business condition provide full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure.

QUARTERLY COMPLIANCE CERTIFICATIONS

Depending on your position with the Company, you may be asked to certify your knowledge of various facts. We rely on certifications to record transactions, make legal and accounting determinations and comply with laws. If you are asked to provide a certification, we expect that it will be fair, accurate and completed timely in accordance with internal deadlines.

USING AND PROTECTING OUR ASSETS, SYSTEMS AND FACILITIES

BUSINESS EXPENSES

You are expected to incur business expenses wisely. When you submit an expense for reimbursement or spend money on our behalf, you must make sure that the cost is reasonable, directly related to our business or a specifically authorized benefit, supported by appropriate documentation and in compliance with our policies. Always submit expense reports in a timely manner, record the purpose and relevant details and comply with all submission requirements. For more information about business expenses, please consult the Company Travel and Entertainment Expense Reimbursement Policy. If you are uncertain about whether you should spend money or submit an expense for reimbursement, check with your direct manager. Direct managers are responsible for all money spent and expenses incurred by their employees and should carefully review such expenses and supporting receipts before approving.

ACCESS TO OUR OFFICES

Company offices are made available to employees, customers, and their visitors having authorized, legitimate business purposes.

COMPUTERS AND OTHER EQUIPMENT

We must all care for any equipment provided to us by the Company (such as laptops) and use it responsibly for business purposes. You may make limited personal use of our equipment, provided such use does not interfere with our business or violate any law or Company policy. If you use any Company equipment at a location outside of our offices, you need to take precautions to protect the equipment from loss, theft or damage. All Company equipment must be fully accessible to us and remains our property, even while in your possession.

CONTINUED...

You have no right to privacy in our equipment (including laptop computers provided to you) or to any personal information stored on that equipment. You may not use your own personal laptop or computer for Company work without permission from your direct manager and our IT Department, and only in compliance with all policies relating to the use of such equipment.

SOFTWARE AND CONTENT

All software that you use in your work for the Company must be appropriately licensed and approved. Any non-licensed software should be removed. It is against our policy to make, use or share illegal or unauthorized copies of software or other copyrighted material. If you use open-source software, you should be sure that you are using it in accordance with any license terms, and are not disclosing any confidential Company information in the process.

RETAINING RECORDS

Our records and information are important assets that comprise our corporate memory and contain information critical to the continuity of our business. These records include not only paper records, but electronic records, such as e-mail, messaging apps and computer drives. You must manage and retain records for as long as needed, consistent with our business and legal obligations, and dispose of them when they are no longer needed.

Please be especially cautious with records and information that are subject to a “legal hold,” which may be imposed under certain circumstances such as litigation or government investigations. When there is a “legal hold” in place, you will be apprised. If you are sent a “legal hold,” you may not alter, destroy or discard documents relevant to the lawsuit, legal proceeding or investigation, even if they are past their standard retention period.

PROTECTING INFORMATION AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY (IP)

The innovations you create every day are vital to our success. We expect you to understand the value of these innovations and to take appropriate steps to protect them. This means disclosing to the Company all inventions and other IP created or improved as part of your work for us, assisting with the preparation and prosecution of patent or trademark applications, protecting confidential information and avoiding the improper use of third-party confidential information or IP. You are also expected to comply with any agreements that you have with the Company concerning intellectual property.

DISCLOSING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE COMPANY AND OTHERS

As a Company employee, you have an obligation to keep information related to the Company confidential. You should not discuss sensitive matters or confidential information with any third party that has not signed a non-disclosure agreement (“NDA”) with the Company. In addition, you should only share such information with employees who have a need-to-know to perform their job responsibilities. We should be especially careful that we are not overheard when we are talking on our mobile devices, and that confidential information on our laptops is not in plain view in public places.

Confidential materials in our offices should be secured so that individuals not having a need to know cannot access them. Also, if confidential information is written on a white board in a conference room, it should be erased when the meeting is over. As explained above, if you need to disclose Company confidential information to a third party (such as a vendor or business partner), you must have the parties execute an NDA prior to sharing any confidential information. You should also limit any disclosure to information that the third party requires to fulfill the business purpose, as it is defined in the NDA. For NDA templates and other information, please consult the NDA resource page on the Navigation Center. All non-Company NDA forms, and any changes requested by a third party to a Company NDA form, must be reviewed and approved by the Legal Department.

If a third party has disclosed confidential information to you or the Company under an NDA, we must comply with the terms of the NDA and limit our use of the confidential information to the specific purpose for which it was intended.

You should never attempt to obtain a competitor's confidential information improperly. This includes asking another employee to disclose confidential information they received while working at another company.

If you obtain another company's confidential information accidentally or from an unknown source, it may be unethical or even illegal to use the information. You should immediately contact the Legal Department to determine how to proceed.

USING AND PROTECTING OUR ASSETS, SYSTEMS AND FACILITIES

DATA PRIVACY AND SECURITY

We understand and respect the importance of privacy. Trust is the foundation of our business. We value the confidence our customers, employees, clients and others have in us and take the responsibility of protecting their information seriously. To be worthy of their trust, we built and will continue to grow the Company with an emphasis on privacy and security. We should collect, hold, and use information only that is necessary for legitimate business purposes. We also endeavor to prevent the unauthorized access, use and disclosure of information.

To that end, we should follow all recommended security procedures, including those made available on the Navigation Center. For example, when accessing non-public Compass data and technology, you should use an approved Compass managed device; if accessing with a personal device, you must keep your devices secure and the software up to date; use robust passwords and keep them confidential; when sending sensitive information, follow our data classification policy and verify the person you are sending it to; when possible, send the information in an encrypted file; do not open attachments or click on links from unknown or suspicious sources; and keep your documents backed to your Google Drive.

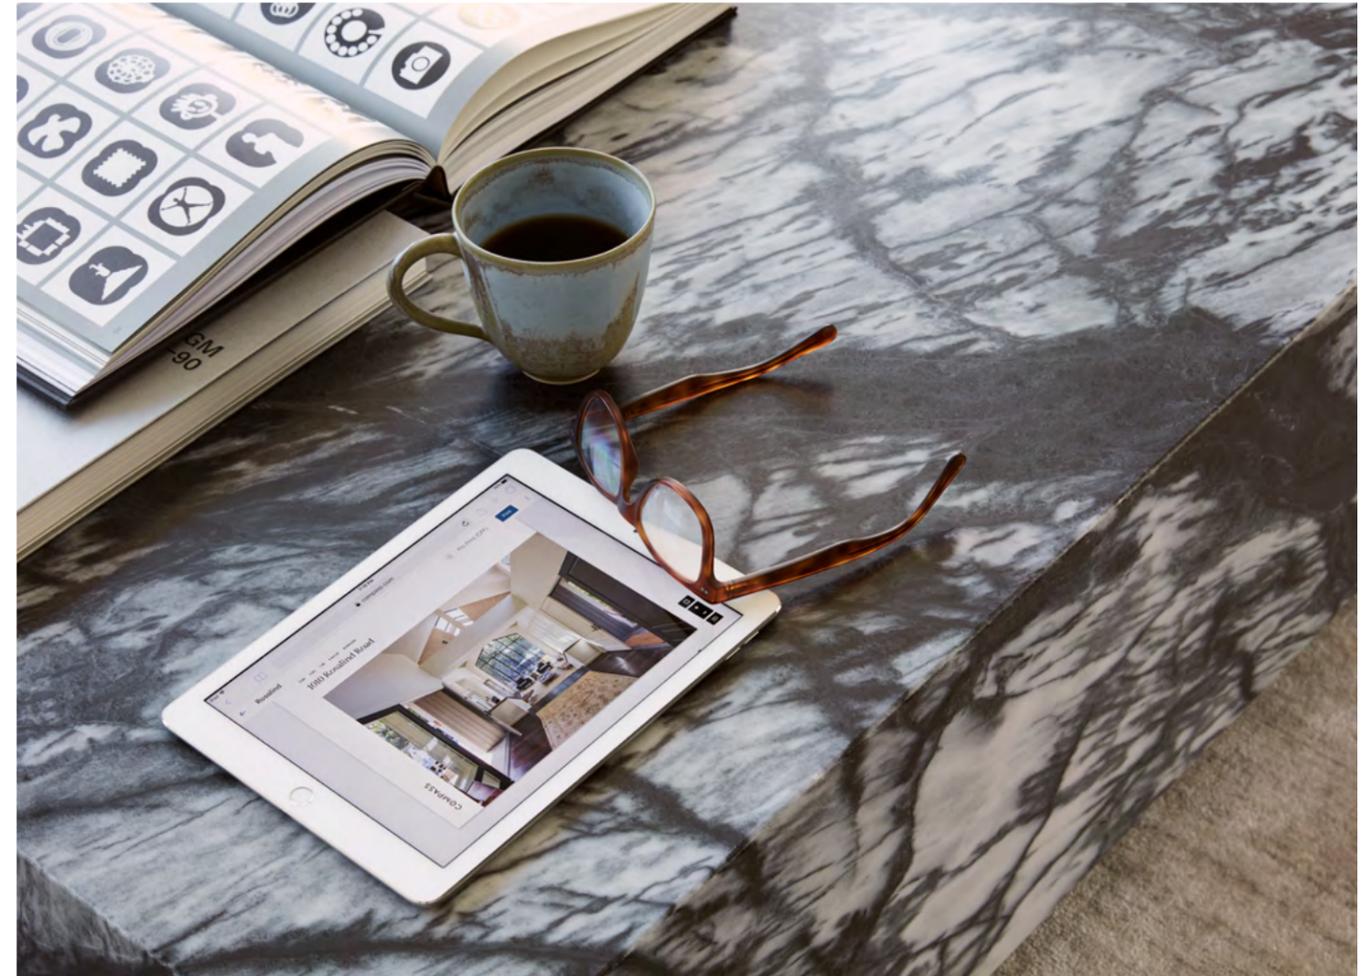

If you are aware of a data breach, or if you suspect that a data breach may have possibly occurred, please report it immediately to security@compass.com.

USING AND PROTECTING OUR ASSETS, SYSTEMS AND FACILITIES

CONTINUED...

REQUESTS BY REGULATORY AUTHORITIES

Stewardship of the data we receive from others, including customers, employees, and suppliers, is a responsibility we embrace. All government requests for our information, documents or interviews of our employees should be referred to the Legal Department immediately. This does not prevent you from confidentially providing information to a government or law enforcement agency if you reasonably believe that the information discloses a legal violation by us or our agents.

COMMUNICATING WITH OTHERS

We are committed to providing accurate, timely and clear disclosure in our public communications. Because any external communications can affect our business, you must be thoughtful and conscientious about what you say and write in public. Only people who have been specifically authorized may speak on behalf of the Company without prior approval. If you are approached by anyone such as a member of the press, analyst, or current or potential investor of the Company, please refer the individual to our Public Relations team by emailing press@compass.com. When posting online in your personal capacity, care must be taken that viewers do not perceive you to be holding yourself out as a Company representative. For additional information on communications, including our Social Media policy, please refer to our Workplace Communication Policy in our Employee Handbook.
