See Things More Clearly with the Contemporary Enclosed Board Lineup

LAKE ZURICH, Ill. , Jan. 12, 2015 /PRNewswire/ -- Where quality and function meet, new Quartet enclosed boards provide a stylish backdrop for all your important messages. To meet the needs of users who place equal weight on both aesthetics and functionality, Quartet®, the world's largest provider of whiteboards, has created two new lines of enclosed boards that have contemporary appeal.

The new lineup includes both enclosed magnetic whiteboards and enclosed cork bulletin boards that are not only sleek but tough enough to handle the communication demands of any busy space. The all-glass front is built to protect your presentation against inclement weather, unauthorized use, and basic wear and tear.

Quartet works on the premise that your best ideas deserve the best tools. "The slim design of the new enclosed boards helps you create stunning displays that match modern workspaces. Having a whiteboard backdrop provides multi-function hanging and writing options. The cork surface is a classic choice and is great for posting announcements. Both lines deliver an open look, impressive durability and are incredibly easy to install to make a perfect addition to our assortment," stated Todd Marshall, Senior Marketing Manager for Quartet.

The enclosed magnetic whiteboards will help draw the attention of passers-by with unique displays that include creative handwritten messages and printed photos that can be easily secured with magnets. The silicon sealed glass front is fully weatherproof for outdoor use. For internal displays, the enclosed cork bulletin board offers traditional appeal to hang important signage for employees, or pin up advertisements to attract customers. Safety glass keeps all items safe from damage. Both the dry-erase and cork enclosed boards feature invisible brackets and four corner pass-through mounting to ensure easy installation plus the doors lock for reliable security and peace of mind.

The magnetic dry-erase enclosed board and cork bulletin enclosed board series are just the beginning of many more good things to come from Quartet.
