Meckey prioritizes strategic growth and profitability as the company marks one-year anniversary

DELRAY BEACH, Fla., July 11, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- UpHealth, Inc. (NYSE: UPH), a digital-first healthcare solutions company, today welcomed Samuel J. Meckey as its new Chief Executive Officer. In his new role, Meckey will focus on accelerating growth and profitability as well as advancing UpHealth's mission of improving healthcare access, especially for underserved communities.

"UpHealth's impressive record in improving healthcare access, delivery and management for both patients and providers is what attracted me to the company," said Meckey. "UpHealth plays a unique and direct role in improving a patient's wellbeing by creating efficient and equitable care experiences. I'm very pleased to join a company that is addressing health inequities and that will make a tangible difference in the world.

"I see tremendous potential at UpHealth. We have a solid foundation in place, unparalleled digital solutions and a seasoned and motivated leadership team. The company is ready for the next phase of its integration and transformation, including a focus on enhanced economies of scale and further operational efficiencies and financial controls."

Meckey added, "The executive team and I will be focused on delivering on the company's fiscal plan of record, including its growth ambitions."

Meckey brings extensive experience spearheading growth strategies and operational excellence in healthcare to his role as CEO. Most recently, he served as executive vice president and head of healthcare at EXLService Holdings, Inc., where he integrated five businesses into one cohesive operating unit and developed the strategic plan to double the business's size, grew revenues and net income, increased gross margin and significantly improved return on invested capital.

Prior to EXL, he was president of Optum Global Solutions, overseeing the company's global operations and technology services organization. Meckey spent 14 years at Optum, where he was responsible for significant revenue and earnings increases across multiple lines of business.

Meckey was an officer and pilot in the United States Navy preceding his corporate career. He completed his undergraduate degree in economics at the United States Naval Academy and earned a master's degree from Harvard Business School.

Dr. Avi Katz, Chairman of UpHealth's Board of Directors said, "As UpHealth heads into its second year as an integrated, public company, I'm confident that Sam will continue to elevate our impact on the healthcare industry with his business expertise and hyperfocus on execution and operational excellence."

"He is a proven leader who has keen experience in successfully driving integrations and transformations while simultaneously increasing growth and innovation. The transformation begun earlier this year is already delivering improved outcomes, and I'm confident that, under Sam's leadership, we'll be able to further accelerate our progress. What's more, the executive team is committed and energized behind Sam's leadership."
