"As we continue to expand our fleet, we're extending greater convenience and security to our customers," said Jaroslaw Chrzanowski, chief executive officer, ITCard. "Leveraging Diebold's best-in-class software and services allows us to give our customers the ability to make more secure and convenient transactions at the ATM and quickly incorporate additional features into the fleet that are under consideration for the future."

ITCard is purchasing additional ATMs to enhance the consumer experience for its extensive ATM network. To heighten consumer security, biometric finger vein readers will be integrated into all Diebold ATMs.

"This is another demonstration of Diebold's innovation capabilities. We are pleased to offer our comprehensive suite of software and world-class services to support this expansion and deliver a personalized and secure experience for ITCard's customers," said Bassem Bouzid, Diebold senior vice president and managing director, Europe, Middle East and Africa.

Diebold's flexible software platform allows for the quick and seamless integration of new technology which enables ITCard to consider the implementation of Diebold's cash recycling capabilities and near field communication (NFC) solutions in the future.
