LGL Group Inc (LGL-AMEX)

LGL: Despite industry wide problems LGL is still profitable.

Current Recommendation	Outperform
Prior Recommendation	N/A
Date of Last Change	05/02/2010
Current Price (11/10/11)	$6.99
Target Price	$10.00

OUTLOOK

LGL Group, through its subsidiaries manufactures custom-designed highly engineered electronic components. Beyond its blue chip customer base the firm has significant opportunity for growth in specialty products in the military instrumentation and space avionics market (MISA) as well as high growth emerging areas such as India and China. Further the firm's long-term goals include plans to diversify away from strictly selling components and to be included higher in the value chain through strategic partnerships.

Our recommendation remains Outperform with a target price of $10.00 a share.

Recent News

On November 10, 2011, LGL Group, Inc., reported financial results for its fiscal 2011 third quarter, ended September 30, 2011.The third quarter was profitable despite a 22% decline in revenue.

	3Q10	2Q11	3Q11
Revenue:	$12.4	$9.6	$9.6
Operating profit:	$2.19	$0.56	$0.12
Pretax:	$2.1	$0.54	$0.091
EPS:	$0.88	$0.13	$0.03
Order backlog:	$12.0	$12.1	$9.1
Cash and cash equivalents:	$2.3	$11.0	$13.7

(in dollar millions except EPS)

LGL's net earnings result for the 2011 second quarter extends the Company's trend to eight consecutive quarters of net earnings.

The decrease in revenue for the three months ended September 30, 2011 was due to reduced order activity for both segments. Gross margins declined from 37.6% to 28.0% year over year but operating expenses were tightly controlled. The decline in gross margins were mainly due to fixed expense coverage over a smaller revenue base. The uncertainty between budget, appropriations and spending in the government sector may have a continued impact on revenue. Weakness in the global macroeconomic environment may be a near term problem since Cisco Systems has announced that revenue growth of over 7% plus is possible in its current quarter. Cisco is LGL's largest customer.

The Company's backlog decreased significantly, from $12.1 million to $9.1 million. Any near term improvement in business would not have a significant impact on fourth quarter revenue and we are forecasting a modest decline from the third quarter level and break-even earnings.

However, LGL remains cautious regarding its outlook for repeat orders during its second half as major electronic manufacturing service companies and original equipment manufacturer's report mixed market conditions. The Company believes its customer positions remain strong across its target market segments.

Likewise, LGL expects to see growth in revenue and earnings over the next two years through the expansion of its product portfolio through continued investment in product development.

Along the same lines the Company anticipates new opportunities with new and existing customers through its active pursuit of joint ventures and synergistic acquisitions as well as investments in green-field opportunities.

INVESTMENT SUMMARY

LGL Group, through its subsidiaries manufactures custom-designed highly engineered electronic components. Beyond its blue chip customer base the firm has significant opportunity for growth in specialty products in the military instrumentation and space avionics market (MISA) as well as high growth emerging areas such as India and China. Further the firm's long-term goals include plans to diversify away from strictly selling components and to be included higher in the value chain through strategic partnerships. We feel the stock will outperform the overall market.

Growth Initiatives:

LGL is committed to four strategic growth initiatives in order to build shareholder value.

The Company intends to generate increased shareholder worth through incremental investments into its core business. This organic growth is anticipated through investments into higher level value chain products that will result in both higher average sales prices as well as increased margins. Organic growth would be accomplished through maximizing positions with existing customers through investments that would leverage opportunities with those customers.

Management also believes joint venture opportunities could further increase shareholder desirability by allowing the Company to secure access to intellectual property. Likewise, joint venture opportunities that would expand and improve LGL's capacity would allow the Company to be more reactive to its customers' supply chain requirements.

Similarly, management believes that synergistic mergers and acquisition opportunities may escalate shareholder appeal. The LGL Group intends to focus on acquisitions with high value added engineering complements as well as those that would improve customizations levels and extend OEM cycles.

The Company's subsidiary, M-tron Industry's October 2002 acquisition of Champion Technologies allowed entry to the timing modules market while the subsidiary's September 2004 acquisition of PTI provided LGL with its family of oven-controlled crystal oscillators and its electronic filter products.

Finally, LGL is also committed to growth through opportunities with new customers, fresh markets and new products. Approximately 10% of the Company's MtronPTI subsidiary's revenue has come from major new designs or new product platforms that have been introduced in the preceding three years.

VALUATION

The forward P/E, is in line with the group average but the other metric are at the low end of the peer group. As the economic environment improves we would expect that the Enterprise to Revenue ratio to improve. The PEG value should improve as the growth in earnings drives the stock price higher. The current stock market environment has not been kind to small company stock prices but a better stock market should have a positive impact on the stock price.

Based on our EPS estimate of $0.70 for 2012 and the current P/E on N4Q earnings of 15 times our target price is $10.00.
